

Sanner's Lake IR5050-style Rimfire Benchrest Match Report
1 September 2019

A warm and slightly breezy day at the range made for about as pleasant a late summer day as you could expect for Southern Maryland as another full relay of shooters took advantage of the holiday weekend to send some lead downrange at the September IR5050-style benchrest match at Sanner's Lake. We also had another new shooter joining us on the line and based on his smiles and comments I think he enjoyed the challenge of rimfire benchrest shooting and will hopefully be back for more (punishment?)!

Trying to position the rifle consistently steady while shooting between breaths, heartbeats, and the occasional wind gust defines the sport, and everybody's score has been (mostly) creeping up over the year. Mark Swierczek saw some differences in accuracy with different brands of ammunition, but all of it shot well enough to put him on top at the end of the day. Terry Wanner had his Ruger Precision Rimfire dialed in and blasted the ten ring often enough to take second place in both the combined and individual score category. Dick Chadwick, on the other hand, grew tired of cycling the bolt of his Remington and grabbed his 10/22 for the final string and performed well enough to squeak into third place, just a couple of points over Asher Maroot and his RPR. Detailed scores and some excellent pictures (provided by John Graves) are included below.

Our next match is on October 6th and it's also our last match of the year, so come on out and make it a good one!
