

Sanner's Lake Woodstock Match Report – April 2018

A wintry wind swept across the ponds on an unexpectedly chilly mid-April afternoon but that didn't stop another large and dedicated band of shooters from hauling out their rifled relics to see how they'd measure up at the April Woodstock Match at Sanner's Lake. The usual vertiginous variety of vintage rifles was present including a gaggle of Garands and multitude of Mausers, as well as a classic Lee-Enfield, a big booming Mosin Nagant and even a pipsqueak M1 Carbine strutting its stuff in the land of the giants. As it turned out, while the sun was low in the sky, it didn't set on the British Empire today, with the Enfield No. 4 Mk2 of Paul Stephens taking the top spot in both the combined and individual score categories with an excellent 98-5X single score and a superb 284-7X combined, his killer 7-X count breaking the overall tie to take the win. Keeping the heat on the Brit was the all-American M1 Garand of Mark Swierczek who figured out that messing with his sights during the second string was not the ticket to success and settled down to take second place combined with a 284-4X, as well as second and third place individual with a couple of blazing 97's. And while most everyone else faded with the afternoon sun, the Swedish Mauser of Joe Maida kept getting better, grabbing third place in the combined category with a superb 271-4X. Several new shooters made it out today, keeping the pressure on the regulars and forcing everybody to bring their A-game...with some persistence, patience, and practice they're sure to be contending for the top spots soon. Thanks once again to everyone for bringing out their classic rifles, filling the benches, and making the Woodstock match as much fun to watch as it is to shoot!
